

Non-Exclusive License

I, _____, am the copyright owner of _____, [insert name of publication, journal, ebook, etc.], hereinafter "Publication." I hereby grant a non-exclusive license to the Smithsonian Institution Libraries ("SIL") to host the Publication and make it accessible on the Smithsonian's internal website for viewing, downloading and printing by Smithsonian, its staff and authorized internal users (e.g., fellows, interns, volunteers) for research, educational, scholarly, and other non-commercial purposes. In no event may the SIL reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the Publications in, or in connection with, commercial or merchandising products or services, without my prior written consent.

I hereby warrant and represent that I am the sole owner of copyright in the Publication and, to the extent that the Publication includes copyrighted materials owned by third parties, I warrant and represent that I have obtained permission from such third parties to use their materials in this Publication.

The SIL will include the following safeguards in connection with any website use of the Materials: the website will notify users that the contents may only be used for research, educational, scholarly and other non-commercial use and all other uses shall require the prior permission of the copyright holder. Such notice will be presented on the same web page or in close proximity to the Publication.

This non-exclusive license, which does not transfer ownership of my copyright to the SIL, is irrevocable, royalty-free and shall endure for the entire term of the copyright in and to said Publication. This license shall survive all assignments of copyright by me and shall not be assignable by the SIL.
